

The Harry Gosling Herald

What a week it has been at Harry Gosling! There has been so much going on that you will have to wait until next week's newsletter to find out about our first ever after-school Curriculum Quiz and the winners!

This week we have been taking part in The Big Draw. The Big Draw is a national festival of drawing, and this year the theme was 'Play'. What better week to announce another amazing Harry Gosling achievement. We have received a Gold Artsmark Award. This award is presented to schools which have outstanding arts provision—not just art, but drama, dance, music and performance. We are really proud that our work in these areas of learning has been nationally recognised.

The week began with Year 3's art exhibition. What fantastic work! What talent! Also this week, a group of children from phase 3 classes visited Stephen Hawking Primary School and took part in an art workshop with children there. Phase 2 children worked with their families in a family workshop in the ground floor hall, and every class took part in a day of amazing art in their classrooms. Thank you Jess (Pink Class) for organising such a great week!

Best wishes, Jennie

'The books

we recommend ...'

This week we have two recommendations from Emerald Class! Ibrahim recommends 'Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire'. This book is full of magic and mystery with adventure too. The Triwizard Tournament takes place in Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry. Harry gets chosen mysteriously even though he didn't put his name in. Things get even more mysterious when he completes the frightful death-defying tasks. I would recommend this book to people who like magic and mystery.

Mikayel recommends 'Diary of a Wimpy Kid Double Down'. It's very funny and interesting because you get to read a person's diary / journal (which is actually kind of weird). You should also read this book because it's very fun. In the book, there are very good pictures as well as handwriting. If you read this book you should also read the other books in the series.
