

The Harry Gosling Herald

Yesterday we had a really fantastic day on World Book Day. Thank you to everyone for joining in so enthusiastically, and to Ashley in Emerald Class for organising such a fun-filled day! We had a great time celebrating books and coming in dressed up as Roald Dahl characters. Look at these amazing costumes!

Some classes held book parties, a group of Year 5 children visited Stephen Hawking Primary School where they brought the story of 'George's Marvellous Medicine' to life (and got very messy into the bargain!), and EVERYONE had a great time getting stuck into books! Remember, just 10 minutes a day of reading is a small amount of time that will make a big difference! This year we are 'Making Every Moment Matter', so make sure you use your time well! If you are looking for something new to read why don't you come along to our book fair? It will be the week beginning 18th March in the ground floor hall after school.

Best wishes, Jennie

RED NOSE DAY!

The school council will be raising money for Comic Relief on Friday 15th March. They will be selling red noses and everyone can come to school in their pyjamas or red clothes. The school council will also be talking to us in assembly about how the money raised helps children all over the world. A letter will be coming home with more details next week. Let's try and raise as much money as we can!

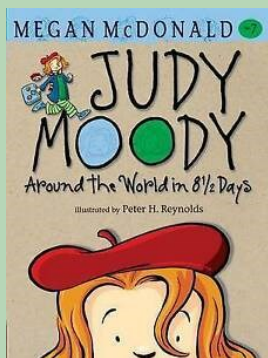

Make sure you keep coming every day on time!

Will you win a ticket for our £200 STAR Attenders prize?

'The book we recommend ...'

This week Sasha in Scarlet Class recommends 'Judy Moody Around the World in 8 ½ days' by Megan McDonald.

"This book is part of a series so there are lots of books you can read because Judy goes on lots of different adventures. I like these books because the main character is a girl who goes to school like me so it is interesting to find out about all the things she does. There are also lots of illustrations by Peter Reynolds that help the reader to imagine everything that happens. My favourite part is when Judy makes pickle flavoured gum with her friend and she tricks her brother Stink into trying it because it made me laugh."
