

The Harry Gosling Herald

Today we joined with thousands of people across the country to raise money for the charity Comic Relief on Red Nose Day. A huge 'Thank you' to our school councillors for organising such a fun-filled day! They have been planning it for weeks!!! Every day this week after school we have been selling red noses, and today we all looked very funny dressed in our pyjamas and red clothes. In our assembly this morning our councillors told us all about how the money raised is used to improve the lives of children in the UK and across the world. What a great reminder that, whatever our age, we can take responsibility for others and work together to make a more equal world.

Best wishes, Jennie

'The book we recommend ...'

This week Saeed in Orange Class recommends 'Horrid Henry and the Football Fiend', by Francesca Simon.

'This week I read Horrid Henry and the Football Fiend. The book is about two football teams that are determined to win. Moody Margaret and Horrid Henry are on different teams however, Margaret has other ideas. The author of this book is Francesca Simon and it is illustrated by Tony Ross. My favourite character is Henry because he is mischievous and spoilt. My favourite part of the book is when Margaret wins all three trophies and Henry is jealous!'
