

The Harry Gosling Herald

You will have noticed some bright new additions to our school this week. Along the wall by Henriques Street we have four new flags designed by last year's Year 6 pupils. Last summer, they worked with an artist from Bow Arts. They looked at patterns in our local environment and used these as inspiration for the design of the flags. Each flag represents each of our school values: Excellence, Responsibility, Teamwork and Equality. They certainly brightened up even the cloudiest skies this week!

Another bright feature in our playground every day, is our Peer Mediators. These are children specially trained to help other children at play-times. This week they led an assembly on Monday telling us all about their work and how they are taking on extra responsibility to help make our playground an even better place to play.

Best wishes, Jennie

WHAT ARE YOU READING THIS WEEK?

Rakin from Sapphire Class, is reading 'Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief' by Rick Riordan.

"It's a book about Percy, who is Poseidon's son, trying to save his mum from the underworld.

I like it because it's A.M.A.Z.I.N.G. and so adventurous. I think it would appeal to people who like adventurous books; for example, 'Harry Potter' and 'Goosebumps'.
