

The Harry Gosling Herald

Harry Gosling has been buzzing with excitement for STEM Week this week with the theme of 'STEM around the World'. Each class has had the opportunity to take a look at different places around the world and see how pollution affect their everyday lives; from droughts to the other extreme of flooding. Using teamwork, ingenuity and innovation the children have been set the task of helping to solve some of these worldwide problems. It has been absolutely awe inspiring to hear some of their thoughtful ideas and how they are going to put them into action. We also teamed up with our Partner School, Stephen Hawking School, to help us research how water is used here at Harry Gosling and how we could maximize water harvesting potential. The children have really enjoyed researching and carrying out experiments to inform their final designs and I think it is safe to say we have got a lot of potential designers and scientist here at school.

Best wishes, Jennie

SUMMER FETE

You will all have received a letter with information about our summer fete, next Thursday 11th July. To make our fete really successful, please send donations of prizes and bric-a-brac to school as soon as possible. Food and cakes for the cake competition should be brought in next Thursday morning. Don't forget, there will be a prize for the winning cake!!!! Judging will be at 2pm, so the deadline for delivery is midday!!

Make sure you keep coming every day on time !

Will you win a ticket for our £200 STAR Attenders prize?

'The book we recommend ...'

Ibrahim in Emerald Class recommends 'Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief' by Rick Riordan: 'I would recommend this book because it is full of adventure. A boy called Percy, who is a normal high school boy, has to endure a fight with a monster called Fury (who is pretending to be his Maths Teacher). When he finds out he is a half-blood, the adventure begins.'

Nabil in Emerald Class recommends 'Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire' by J.K. Rowling: 'I recommend this book because it is full of fun and changes your emotions. At the beginning, something very strange happens to Harry, you feel scared because there is a chance that Harry is going to die. Then it twists, and something very bad happens...'
